Killingly Revisited

Working with the Hands

Agricultural Engineering Index

Approximately 1500 scientists from around the globe participated in the International Grassland Congress at the University of Kentucky in 1981, sharing existing knowledge of grasslands and exploring methods for increasing the productivity of livestock/forage systems so as to better feed mankind while maintaining or improving environmental quality. Of the nearly 500 papers presented on previously unpublished original research or experimental research and development projects, 273 were selected for inclusion in this book. They cover the current basic and applied research on production and utilization of forages from grasslands the world over.

It's Hard to Hug a Cow is about a Registered Red Angus cow that is not just seen through the eyes of a human as a milk producing, profit making animal but as a friend. The book starts out with realistic pencil drawings going to cartoon drawings with comedic intent during the anticipated act of hugging this adorable critter. This is a fun book for those who love farm animals not to mention the Registered Red Angus raisers. P.S. My friends call me the Dr. Seuss of cows!

It's Hard to Hug a Cow

Agricultural Engineering Index, 1971-1980

SHE'D MADE HER BED—NOW SHE HAD TO SHARE IT! Rita Thompson was getting married. She just hadn't bothered to invite the groom—her boss, Sheikh Sakir Al-Nayhalm—to his own wedding. Rita had concocted the whole scheme to successfully reunite her alienated family. Everything had gone according to plan...until she found Sakir standing at the altar waiting for her! And Sakir had a proposal of his own for the blushing bride. Rita would be his wife for three weeks in his home country of Emand, then they would dissolve the union. There would be no touching, no kissing...no taking possession of her delectable body. But there were some vows a man couldn't keep!

Official Guide

Adrift is a book, based on a true story, for those who have left home, sought home, or even found home and know what it's like to live between worlds. Deanne was born to Canadian parents and grew up living in Canada, Germany and then on ships sailing around the world. This story begins when she moved back to the sea shortly after her 13th birthday. As I stared out the window of the van, the buildings of every city loomed ominously, like giant watchdogs forcing us to keep going. The glass was cool as I leaned my head against the window and forced the tears to retreat. The world outside the window whirled by as I stared the dogs down. My memories hung loosely together like bulbs from a string of lights. I couldn't remember when or where they happened or my exact age. I lived moment by moment, a girl in front of an ever-changing landscape of people and places. There were reasons I did not belong to each of the countries I lived: you are not German, you have a Canadian passport. You are not Canadian, you've only lived here for a year. Would I ever fit in? In this first Heidi Heckelbeck super special, Heidi makes a drastic wish—but once it comes true, she finds it may not be the answer to all of her problems. When another magical spell goes wrong, Heidi makes a powerful wish: “Sometimes I wish I wasn’t a witch!” But when Heidi’s wish comes true, she has to figure out a way to get her magic back, while also helping her friends solve a few problems of their own. Only this time, she’ll have to help without casting a spell. Will Heidi realize just how special her magic is? With easy-to-read language and illustrations on almost every page of this extra-long story, the Heidi Heckelbeck chapter books are perfect for beginning readers.

A sumptuous introduction to the celebrated American painter depicts an ambitious young Edward Hopper, who travels to New York and Paris to hone his skills while staying true to his dream. Illustrated by the artist of the best-selling Reaching for the Moon.

Construction Equipment Ownership and Operating Expense Schedule: Region XII

In the first volume, Killingly revealed the initial manufacturing emphasis in the town's villages. Killingly Revisited illustrates how the town survived after losing most of the textile industry, as it moved South, by actively seeking diversified commercial businesses. Within these pages, the town's fascinating past is displayed as newly acquired vintage views are coupled with information recently uncovered from the Killingly Historical and Genealogical Society's newspaper archives and other reference materials. In celebration of 300 years as an incorporated Connecticut town, the society is sharing photographs of Killingly's mills, businesses, buildings, churches, schools, and cemeteries. There have been losses from devastating fires that changed the face of Main Street. New streets and roads were added as modes of transportation changed. There are also new views of citizens at work and play.

When my father was first diagnosed with Alzheimer's, I read and researched everything I could get my hands on about the disease. Right off the bat I could tell if it was written by a physician, pharmaceutical company or even a nursing home. When caregivers are looking for help, the last thing they need is medical text so complex they already forgot what they read by the time it's laid back down. This is what got me started on writing about common sense caregiving, which turned into a weekly column and now into this book. My goal is to make this book as "caregiver friendly" as possible. Sharing my triumphs and hardships from my plus three-thousand day campaign in dealing with the disease of Alzheimer's and the world of memory-impairment. Gary Joseph LeBlanc is a columnist, speaker and book dealer from Spring Hill, Florida. He was the primary caregiver of his beloved father stricken with Alzheimer's disease for nearly the past decade. LeBlanc's weekly column appears in the Hernando Today, a Tampa Tribune Publication and other health publications. His writings offer insight and hope through his own journey of caregiving, dealing with the memory-impaired, given in a caregiver friendly manner.

Livestock Farming

The terror began one autumn night when Jack Railey's young daughter Sarah, did not return home. Was it kidnapping, brainwashing, or worse? Suddenly Jack is caught up in a harrowing scenario of betrayal, terror, and death, when he learns she has joined a cult. Their leader, Kahir, is a man some call kind, others call evil-some say he protects children, others say he destroys them. Jack is asked to join a small band of parents led by a man named Anthony Bane-their aim, to regain their children from the clutches of this Messiah. Agreeing to meet with these strangers for his wife's sake and his own curiosity, Jack soon finds that they had their own secrets-secrets that lead to dangerous consequences. After seeing things thought impossible, Jack finally understands that Kahir possesses powers of dangerous proportion and deadly force. Anyone opposing him would meet a grim fate-a fate pulled from their deepest fears. If Jack Railey wants his daughter back, he'll have to fight a battle unlike any other he has ever fought before. To win he must release his own power-he must face his dark side-he must learn the secrets of the Messiah.

Staying Afloat in a Sea of Forgetfulness

In this sequel to the landmark work Up from Slavery, Booker T. Washington discusses his time spent at the school which would later become Tuskegee University. Washington was the founder and moral compass of the school, so these reflections on his work offer invaluable insight into his mind, the dreams realized and the real world struggles.

Implement & Tractor Red Book

Jimmy was only nine years old when he was molested and sexually assaulted in London's dingy East End. He struggled to keep his dark secret, while coping with being adopted and his illiterate father's violent outbursts. Desperately needing to be loved, Jimmy accepts an offer of 'conditional kindness' from Tom, his scoutmaster. Now, after a lifetime of secrets, his story can be told as Tom is now dead, so.
